Announcements

CONNECT To Offer Evidence-Based Practice Pre-Conference Workshop at DEC in November

Thursday November 17, 2011 Division for Early Childhood Conference, National Harbor, MD

This workshop will provide faculty, doctoral students, and PD providers with a chance to learn about and apply an innovative clinical teaching approach and free, web-based resources into their upcoming courses, seminars and PD events. Content on specific practices such as embedded interventions, transition practices, communication for collaboration, family-professional partnerships, and dialogic reading will be provided. A significant portion of the workshop will focus on small group work during which participants will apply the ideas from the workshop to a course, seminar, supervision, or PD event for which they are responsible.

New Grant Provides Support to NC Community College Faculty

Investigators Tracey West (NPDCI), and Dale Epstein and Chih-Ing Lim (CONNECT) will lead a new project designed to better prepare NC early childhood educators to serve young children with disabilities. Over four years and with funding from the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Special Education programs, the project will work with six community colleges to enhance and revise courses offered by early childhood faculty. Through project efforts the impact of the course changes will extend to community colleges across the state. The project helps to further the goals of NC’s NPDCI work around inclusion and professional development and will incorporate the CONNECT Modules as an integral part of their work.

Save the Date! National Inclusion Institute May 14–16, 2012

The Twelfth Annual National Early Childhood Inclusion Institute will be held May 14-16, 2012 in Chapel Hill, North Carolina. The Inclusion Institute Keynote Panel will feature federal policy leaders: Shannon Rudisill, Director of Office of Child Care; Melody Musgrove, Director of U.S. Department of Education, OSEP; and Yvette Sanchez Fuentes, Director of Office of Head Start.

CONNECT Modules

Dialogic Reading Practices

By Sharon Palsha
Christine talks about preparations for Luke’s first day of kindergarten.

What techniques do you currently use to teach storybook reading to students? Do you provide chances for your students to practice and get feedback on reading storybooks to groups? What strategies do you use to do that?

Early Educator Competencies: New NPDCI Concept Paper

The National Professional Center on Inclusion (NPDCI) has released a concept paper identifying issues and providing guidance to states as they develop early educator competencies in the context of inclusion. Key issues include ensuring competencies reflect emerging research on effective practices for working in inclusive settings with children with and without disabilities, as well as linking early educator competencies with quality professional development opportunities, accountability systems, and other components of a comprehensive early childhood system.
